SS21

The new woman is a fictional celebrity, who lives a luxurious fashion life. She no longer buys trendy and up-to-date clothes and does not want to look like anyone else. So her wardrobe is curated by personal vintage shoppers and stylists. She gets very tired from all the attention in public places, so she is wearing sunglasses all the time. One of them called "Haters Gonna Hate".

She is a bit asocial. She likes animals more and mostly tells her problems to them, as she thinks animals will understand her better than people. Sadly, everyone thinks she is cruel because of her intellect and manner of dressing and because she never says how much good she...

The SS21 collection is portrayed in a pastel gradient palette of peach, mint, lavender and lilac, pink and bubblegum pink colors of silk, organza and viscose fabrics. There are sailor inspired uniforms with oversized collars, which the brand has shown various times in different ways, organza blouses with balloon-style oversized sleeves, silk dresses with capes, and cropped vintage blazers with vintage style buttons.
